"CACEE is an excellent organization that brings together career educators and employers who focus on a common goal – recruiting post-secondary students and graduates. As a career advisor, I receive tremendous value for my membership dollars. The professional development opportunities allow me to get the most current, relevant information regarding student employment. In addition, I have expanded my network considerably to include career professionals across Canada, USA and internationally; as well as solidifying relationships with HR professionals from top organizations. As a collective voice, CACEE is the Canadian expert on post-secondary recruitment. It is a significant benefit to be affiliated with such a dynamic association."
